

8-year old Olivia Charest to represent New Bedford in PBS's "Celebration of Music" contest

The Celebration of Music on PBS is an all-new, inspiring series searching for exciting young talents across America and play host to them at local PBS studios nationwide! Contestants have a chance to win a guest spot performing locally and on television. They also have the opportunity to perform in the potentially life-changing winners showcase in Los Angeles.

Olivia Charest was chosen as one of only 23 finalists out of more than 500 who applied across our region. She is also the youngest contestant at only 8 years old.

If you didn't get a chance to see the show on March 28th you can tune in again on Wednesday, April 4 at 1:00 pm or 8:00 pm on Rhode Island PBS and see these talented young artists perform! You can also see her audition video here:

As a viewer you get to vote for your favorite contestant and of course we hope that is Olivia. The winner is decided through online voting and announced live at the finale on April 28th at the Celebration of Music Live Concert on Rhode Island PBS.

Please help us support her by watching the show and voting for her online. To vote click here.
