

C.A.R.E. Southcoast Animal Shelter visits Winslow School to learn about animal care and pack “doggie bags”

“Karen Stefanik a dedicated volunteer at C.A.R.E. Southcoast Animal Shelter came to Winslow School to talk to students about caring for animals.

The PBIS Ambassadors of Kindness started a community service project to collect items to help the animals at this shelter. With the help of the Winslow Families generous donations, PBIS Ambassadors of Kindness bagged “doggie bags” for dozens of animals. C.A.R.E. Southcoast is an all-volunteer, no-kill animal shelter in Acushnet.

Our animals rely on the generosity of the community to help with food, litter, vet visits and so many other needs. We always need volunteers (16 and up) to help with the cats at our shelter, as well as foster homes for our dogs and kittens. Our shelter building is being sold, so we are also looking to move into a new building before we become homeless!”-Kristen Nightingale.
