Massachusetts State Police Unresolved Case Unit adds New Bedford man stabbed to death

“The Massachusetts State Police Department and the Massachusetts Department of Correction and the District Attorney’s Offices collaborated to create playing cards that feature homicide and missing persons on them.

The cards are funded by the Department of Correction and are made available to state prison inmates. With this, they hope that they will be able to find out additional information about the crimes on the cards.

Eighteen years ago, on August 28, 2005, Ashley Silva was stabbed at the intersection of Ruth Street and Viall Street in New Bedford.
