

Dartmouth Police Department seeks public's help in identifying ladies who tried to "build their street credit scores"

The following was posted on the Dartmouth Police Department page:

"Calling all cAHs...Calling all cAHs

DPD understands that everyone likes to boost their credit score, so that they can buy things such as a car, a house, etc.

We also understand that you build your credit score up by being an honest, hard-working person, and not by being a lazy thief who steals someone else's credit card to make purchases with it.

As you already know how much we love to work together with our community detective division, we are asking for YOUR help with identifying these two ladies, who recently tried to build their street credit scores up by making fraudulent purchases at Lowe's, using someone else's stolen credit card.

If you would like to help these two ladies achieve true Credit Karma greatness by providing us with their names, we encourage you to either send us a private message or call Detective Kyle "Keyboard Warrior" Costa at 508-910-1755.

PLEASE SHARE! Thank you!"
