

FREE Family Field Day This Sunday at UMASS Dartmouth

Bristol County District Attorney Thomas M. Quinn III's office, in partnership with UMASS Dartmouth Athletics and the Charlton College of Business will once again host our annual Free Family Field Day this Sunday, September 15th.

The free event will be held from 11 am to 3 pm at UMASS Dartmouth Cressy Field and surrounding areas of 285 Old Westport Road in Dartmouth.

This year's event will feature dozens of fun outdoor family activities, a petting zoo, food tents and free sports bags for all families in attendance. Some of the activities include football, baseball, basketball, hockey, soccer and golf contests. We will also be hosting traditional backyard family games, a corn hole, a can jam and dodgeball games. The event will also be home to a 64-foot inflatable obstacle course, bat races, a tug of war, a potato sack race, three-legged races, hula hoop contests, live music and a giant volleyball game.

Several food vendors will also be on hand and a resource section will be set up with informational tables for local service providers.

The event is open to the general public and will be completely free to all in attendance. We would like to thank our co-sponsors for this event, the Taunton Federal Credit Union and SouthCoast Entertainment.
