

Man dies from overdose at Elm Street parking garage in New Bedford

On Saturday night, a 31 year old man was found in the west stairwell unresponsive and later determined deceased.

An uncapped hypodermic needle was found next to the man along with empty baggies that had a white residue in them, which is believed to be heroin.