

Massachusetts State Police share coffee, doughnuts, and discussion with locals during “Coffee With A Cop” event

What’s a better way to warm up on a blustery morning? Having a hot cup of coffee with local law enforcement partners... Our latest ‘Coffee With A Cop’ event was coordinated by Troop C Community Liaison Farrah Gray, and Spencer Police Department Officer Todd LaPorte.

Also in attendance were members of Troop C Community Action Team, State Police – Brookfield Barracks, and Spencer Police and Fire Departments. Thank you to Simon Family Donuts for providing hot coffee and treats for all in attendance.

Despite April snow, young and old alike shared coffee, donuts, and discussion with the people of Spencer and towns throughout Central Massachusetts. Tokens of gratitude, stories of shared experience, and discussions of the future complemented the warmth of the coffee.

Continue to watch our social media spaces for notice of more gatherings like this one in the coming weeks. We hope you can join us at one of them and tell us what’s important to you.

All photos by the Massachusetts State Police:

