

Massachusetts State Police helping keep kids warm with 1st annual winter clothing drive!

“Last Friday the Massachusetts State Police concluded the first-ever regional winter clothing drive at the State Police General Headquarters in Framingham.

The drive amassed an abundance of winter clothing for youth and teenagers, including new coats, boots, scarfs, hats, and gloves. Some citizens were even gracious enough to donate handmade hats and gloves!

The Massachusetts State Police will distribute the donated items to community-based organizations throughout the state, where they will be disseminated to those in need.

Thank you to the amazing employees at Oracle, the YMCA organization, and to everyone else who contributed to making this clothing drive a tremendous success!”-Massachusetts State Police.
