

Massachusetts State Police's 85th Recruit Training Troop wraps up first week of training

The 85th Recruit Training Troop wrapped up its first week of training last Friday with patrol procedures classes and introduction to the MSP's main patrol vehicle, physical training, and, of course, visits to the chow hall. This week, the Recruits will begin their criminal law instruction in addition to diving into other training topics. We will continue to post photos as the class proceeds over the 22 remaining weeks.
