

Massachusetts woman cited after she plows into Brockton home

A driver was cited after a Brockton, Massachusetts, crash Tuesday night that left a massive hole in a home.

A black Honda Civic sedan hit a curb and a fence before it crashed into the front bay window of a home at 901 Crescent St. at about 10 p.m., Brockton police said.

Brockton Fire said the female driver suffered minor injuries and was taken to Good Samaritan Medical Center.

A man was inside the home at the time. He was evaluated on scene but did not need additional medical treatment.

The driver was cited for operating under the influence, marked lanes violation and possession of an open container in the vehicle, Brockton police said. Her name was not released.

Brockton Fire said no utilities were affected, and the home is still livable despite the damage.

The crash is under investigation.

