

New Bedford Guide Update

“Writing for us” page change

New Bedford Guide has been officially open for less than a week and we have a ton of people wanting to write for us. We also have 200+ Facebook fans in just over four days! The concept of NewBedfordGuide.com is to provide a website with articles related to New Bedford and the areas written by local residents. If you'd like to contribute to the site please reference our Writing for Us page. While we will be providing writers a way to earn money in the future, we will NOT be placing Google Adsense ads throughout New Bedford Guide just yet. We feel it is more important to gain significant traffic before putting advertisements in or around articles. All authors will be given full credit and when we add ads into the articles in the future, they will also go into any past articles written by the authors.

Author Images Added

One of our goals is to add some personality to each article written. I'm adding “mug shots” to each article. If you are shy about your mug shot being embedded into your articles let me know!
