

New Bedford police seek public's help in identifying iPhone image

New Bedford Police are reaching out to the public to help locate the owner of an iPhone that was found in a duffel bag near Gayhead Court and Potter Street Friday, Oct. 21.

An employee of the New Bedford Housing Authority was cleaning the area when he saw a dark duffel bag along the fence line in the area of Gayhead Court and Potter Street. The bag contained a silver iPhone 6 and an iPad with a broken screen.

Police were unable to open the items, which were locked, so they could not identify the owner of the property. The iPhone had a photo of a child on its screen.

Anyone with information on these items is asked to call the detective's division at 508-992-7463, ext. 79501.
