

New Bedford Public Schools spotlights middle school art teacher, Matthew Carreiro

"Matthew Carreiro, art teacher, at Roosevelt Middle School, initially taught elementary students at Gomes and has transitioned seamlessly into his role at Roosevelt Middle School.

He believes in his students, and their potential, and inspires them to create while developing a love for art. Along with teaching art classes, Mr. Carreiro also runs a club after school and just taught art during the ELA Acceleration Academy over February break.

His mindset and positive energy encourage his students and colleagues. He is able to build relationships and helps lead the conversation for enhancing the arts for students in New Bedford.

We are lucky to have Mr. Carreiro as part of the Fine Arts Department! Lynn Souza, NBPS Fine Arts Director."-New Bedford Public Schools.

New Bedford Public Schools photo.