

New Hampshire State Police cite Massachusetts man going 121 mph in Tesla

"On Friday, May 27, 2022, New Hampshire State Police Troopers from Troop C Barracks began the holiday weekend by conducting a pro-active traffic enforcement detail during the afternoon commute.

At approximately 4:40 PM, Trooper Eric Fosterling was northbound on Interstate 89 in the Town of New London near exit 12 when he observed a 2021 Tesla Model 3 traveling at an extremely high and dangerous speed.

Trooper Fosterling determined that the vehicle was traveling 121 mph and 56 mph over the posted speed limit. Trooper fosterling stopped the vehicle and identified the driver as:

Thomas Corvi

27 years old

Melrose, MA

Corvi was detained at the scene and eventually released on a Summons to Appear at the Newport District Court for August 23, 2022, at 8:30 AM for the charge of Reckless Operation.

Any witnesses to this incident can contact #Trooper Fosterling at Eric.J.Fosterling@DOS.NH.GOV or by voicemail at (603) 223-4358." -New Hampshire State Police.

,em>New Hampshire State Police photo.