

Three containers with thousands of used needles found on Nash Road

A large plastic bin and two boxes containing thousands of used needles were discovered by a trash disposal driver on the side of Nash Road in New Bedford today. There were no clues to where the containers originated from or why they were left on the side of the road.