

Two people shot on County Street in New Bedford early Sunday morning

New Bedford police are reporting that two people were shot near 1087 County Street around 3:15am Sunday morning and transported to Rhodes Island Hospital for treatment. There is no update on the severity of the injuries at this time.

Police have not made any arrests at this time, but the investigation is in the early stages and very active.