

Rain and wind gusts up to 65 mph to blast Massachusetts Sunday into Monday

Behind Sunday's storm system, strong winds are expected with wind gusts 55-65 mph; potential for gusts near 70 mph starting Sunday evening into Monday. Winds will peak Monday afternoon, diminishing into Tuesday. Downed trees and scattered power outages are likely so take precaution by ensuring cell phones are fully charged, checking generator fuel levels, having flashlights with good batteries and candles.