“LET OUR VOICE LEAD THE CHANGE”

Have you ever used your voice to make a change or impact on the lives of others? Our voices can do big things and make huge changes in not only our lives but the lives of others. Today we live in a world where people are judged by the color of their skin, the clothes they wear, the way they talk, how they walk and even their own beliefs. Martin Luther King believed in equality for people of all races and religions. He believed people should be judged by the content of their character and not the color of their skin, and he used his voice to change the way things were in America. This is why it is so important for people to speak out and stand up for what they believe in.

Racism has been a huge problem in our society for many years. People think that just because someone looks different they are beneath them and don't deserve to be treated as equals. Activist like Martin Luther King believed that people were equal and used his voices rather than violence to fight for what he believed in. Sometimes even though we think violence is the solution to a problem it isn't. Dr. King once said, "Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that." Using violence will only result in hatred conflicts and that will not solve a problem.

Martin Luther King is a hero of mine and many others. He led a movement that changed laws in America and gave African Americans true freedom and, not once did he use violence. He showed Americans how to stand up and fight for what they believe by using their voices. He always chose peace over violence and showed people how powerful their voices can be. Like Martin Luther King once said, "The time is always right to do what is right." It is important for us to use our voices to change the problems in the world today. Next time you see something you don't believe in or think is wrong use your voice to make a change.
